Highlights of the month

- The ASPI and S&P SL20 increased for the month of 31 August 2022 by 17.33% and 19.63% respectively.
- Net foreign flows for the month amounted to LKR 934 Mn of inflows, a growth from the prior period.
- The market has witnessed increased turnover for the period as investor sentiment has improve resulting from better earnings and reduced fuel shortages.

 Investment strategy: AIA Sri Lanka maintains a prudent investment strategy for its investment portfolios, in line with its investment philosophy and guidelines as set out in the investment policy. The Company advocates a long-term investment strategy supporting long-term growth. The equity strategy is driven by in-depth research with emphasis on growth and sustainability of earnings whilst principles such as liquidity, solvency and corporate governance also play a significant role in stock selection.

Fixed income outlook

- Interest rates continued to increase in August on the backdrop of market discussions surrounding potential restructuring on domestic debt. The benchmark 364-Day Treasury bill rate exceeded 30% during the month as it stood at 30.50% as at end August 2022. The pressure on interest rates of medium and long-term maturities remained high as Treasury bond auction rates hovered around the psychological 30% mark.
- CBSL holding of Government Securities stood at LKR 2.25 Trillion while the overnight market liquidity was at negative LKR 474 billion as at August 2022. Inflation as measured by the CCPI (2013=100) continued to increase (64.3% on a year on year in August 2022), mainly due to food inflation (93.7% on year on year basis).
- The policymakers have implemented contractionary fiscal policy measures through the interim budget and through the reversal of certain populist measures such as reintroduction of the fuel formula, increasing electricity and water tariffs. Further, securing a staff level agreement with the IMF could also positively contribute to instil confidence in investors. However, the fears surrounding potential restructuring of domestic debt will continue to negatively impact the overall interest rates. Therefore, we expect interest rates to remain high through the fourth quarter of 2022. If policymakers manage to secure bridging finance from bilateral and multilateral partners, interest rates may decline from current levels.

Equity outlook

- The two main indices of Colombo Stock Exchange, All Share Price Index (ASPI) and S&P SL 20 Index (S&P SL), continued to record gains during August as they increased by 17.33% and 19.63% respectively, during the month. Improved investor sentiment due to the better than expected corporate performance of the export and the plantation sector companies may have been the main reason for the significant gains witnessed by the market in August 2022.
- However, based on the weak macroeconomic fundamentals prevailing in the country coupled with the negative impact of contractionary fiscal and monetary policy measures on corporates could hamper future earnings. Therefore, we continue expect the stock market to be range bound.
