Highlights of the month

- The ASPI and S&P SL20 recovered for the month of May 2022 by 6.35% and 6.78% respectively.
- Net foreign inflows for the month amounted to LKR 150 million, a continued trend of inflows from the previous month.
- Market Price to Earnings valuations have reduced from a yearly high of 15x in January 2022 to a PE ratio of 6.27x for the month of May 2022, this decline has been supported drop in overall prices and an increase in first quarter earnings.

 Investment strategy: AIA Sri Lanka maintains a prudent investment strategy for its investment portfolios, in line with its investment philosophy and guidelines as set out in the investment policy. The Company advocates a long-term investment strategy supporting long-term growth. The equity strategy is driven by in-depth research with emphasis on growth and sustainability of earnings whilst principles such as liquidity, solvency and corporate governance also play a significant role in stock selection.

Fixed income outlook

- The benchmark 364-Day Treasury bill rate eased off slightly to 24.30% as at end May 2022, mainly owing to the increase in demand for short- and medium-term Government securities. As a result, the rates across the medium-term yield curve declined by 100 – 200 basis points during the month. The CBSL holding of Government Securities continued to increase as it exceeded LKR 1.96 trillion, while the overnight market liquidity was a negative LKR 557.1 billion as at 3rd June 2022.
- The Sri Lankan Rupee depreciated by 5.24% against the USD during May 2022. Inflation as measured by the CCPI (2013=100), continued to increase significantly to 39.1% on a year-on-year basis, in May 2022, mainly driven by food inflation which increased to 57.4% during the month of May 2022.
- Despite certain measures implemented (contractionary fiscal and monetary policy) by the policymakers, given the extremely weak macroeconomic fundamentals coupled with political and social instability the country is faced with, we expect the high interest rate regime to continue through Q2 2022.

Equity outlook

- The two main indices of Colombo Stock Exchange, All Share Price Index (ASPI) and S&P SL 20 Index (S&P SL), gained 6.35% and 6.78%, respectively during May 2022 despite the weak investor sentiment prevailing in the market. Implementation of contractionary fiscal policy measures, especially through imposition of higher taxes, are expected to negatively impact the overall profitability of the listed entities. Moreover, the expectation of overall slowdown of the economy may pose further challenges to corporate earnings. Therefore, we expect the stock market to be range bound in Q2 2022.
