- CARGILLS (CEYLON) PLC

Highlights of the month

- The ASPI and S&P SL20 performed for the month of April 2024 by 8.03% and 11.22% respectively.
- Net foreign flows for the month amounted to LKR 23 Mn of outflows, a decrease from the prior period.
- The market has witnessed increased turnover for the period compared to the prior period.

 Investment strategy: AIA Sri Lanka maintains a prudent investment strategy for its investment portfolios, in line with its investment philosophy and guidelines as set out in the investment policy. The Company advocates a long-term investment strategy supporting long-term growth. The equity strategy is driven by in-depth research with emphasis on growth and sustainability of earnings whilst principles such as liquidity, solvency and corporate governance also play a significant role in stock selection.

Fixed income outlook

- Regardless of the 50 basis points (Bps) policy rate cut on 25 March 2024, Treasury bill rates did not react in proportion. Consequently, during March, T-bill rates experienced a slight increase of 20-28 Bps, while most other medium to long-term tenures remained unchanged.
- We anticipate a gradual growth in credit to the private sector throughout 2024 as borrowing costs decrease. This moderate level of credit demand is expected to coincide with the gradual economic recovery driven by improvements in household disposable income.
- Based on fiscal provisional data for FY 2023, we observed a primary surplus of approximately LKR 160 billion, reflecting a commendable achievement in terms of the country's fiscal stance. Looking ahead, the need for additional borrowing is anticipated to be relatively lower due to this significant primary surplus. However, it's crucial to acknowledge the potential utilization of these buffers for various election-targeted expenditures.
- Year-on-year inflation for March 2024 was reported at 0.9%, as we anticipated the negative base effect from the corresponding month of the last year dragged the inflation down. Additionally, reductions in electricity tariffs, fuel prices, and vegetable prices contributed to the sharp decline in inflation. The appreciation of the LKR also has a positive implication on inflation, leading us to expect an easing of inflationary pressures in the medium term. However, the base effect's impact is expected to correct in April 2024, potentially causing inflation to bounce back to the range of 3-5%.

Equity outlook

- Year-on-year The equity momentum remained positive within the month of April 2024, both ASPI and S&P SL20 indicated positive momentum of 8.03% and 11.22% respectively during the month. Commercial bank PLC, HNB Bank PLC, LOLC PLC and JKH PLC were the topmost contributors to the ASPI index movement and the top five contributed to 33.4% of the index movement with the month.
- Average daily turnovers hovered above LKR2.7Bn levels within the month and within the month overall market multiple by 7.7% and remained around 10.66x at the month end. Market experienced a brief slowdown and seen a profit taking activity on the back of somewhat unsuccessful talks SL govt had with ISB holders. However, the market resumed its upward momentum steadily during the balance part of the month. The net foreign outflows during the month remained negative level of LKR 23Mn. However, we have seen some healthy net foreign buying activity within the first few days of the month.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Where are AIA Unit Linked Funds invested?

The Unit Linked funds are invested in instruments specified in the policy documents i.e. government securities, debt securities and money market investments such as fixed deposits, etc, and in shares listed on the Colombo Stock Exchange. These investments are made within the parameters provided in the policy documents, in order to achieve the investment objective of each fund.

- Equities: Investment in shares listed on the Colombo Stock Exchange.
- Debt Securities: Investments in Treasury instruments, Corporate Debt instruments, repurchase agreements of Treasury instruments and Corporate Debt instruments of longer maturity tenor than those classified as Money Market investments.
- Money Market investments: Funds held as Corporate Debt instruments, overnight repurchase agreements of Treasury instruments, Corporate Debt instruments with a tenor of one day, investments in Treasury instruments and cash in bank current accounts.

Treasury instruments refers to instruments such as Treasury Bills and Treasury Bonds issued by the government of Sri Lanka. Corporate debt refers to debt instruments issued by financial institutions and companies.

How does AIA manage Unit Linked funds?

AIA maintains a prudent investment strategy for its investment portfolios, in line with its investment philosophy and guidelines, as set out in the Company's investment policy. The investments of each fund are carried out in line with the investment objectives of the respective fund. The Company advocates a long-term investment strategy supporting long-term growth. The equity strategy is driven by in-depth research with emphasis on growth and sustainability of earnings whilst principles such as liquidity, solvency and corporate governance also play a significant role in stock selection.

Why do unit prices of the Growth & Balanced Funds fluctuate in comparison to the other Unit Linked Funds?

The prices of all unit linked funds move in tandem with the price movements or market values of their underlying investments. The Growth & Balanced funds invest in shares listed on the Colombo Stock Exchange. As prices of shares can be volatile at times, the unit prices of Growth & Balanced funds too can move higher or lower in tandem with these movements in share prices.

Is the All Share Price Index (ASPI) or S&P20 movement comparable with AIA Growth & Balanced Funds Performance?

The Growth and Balance fund performance may differ from the performances of the ASPI and the S&P SL 20 stock indices due to the fund portfolios holding different stocks and different proportions of stocks when compared to those used in the computation of the indices. The ASPI measures the movement of share prices of all listed companies on the Colombo Stock Exchange based on market capitalization and the S&P SL 20 measures the movement of share prices of 20 of the leading companies selected and rebased on certain criteria including market capitalisation.

▪ What are the Investment Strategies mentioned in the Policy Document* ?

Depending on the policy you have purchased, at the date of commencement the policy owner selects the investment strategy out of the four available; namely Aggressive, Moderate, Cautious and Advanced. Aggressive, Moderate and Cautious strategies have their funds allocated and switched at predetermined milestones depending on the policy term. Policy owners can switch fund strategies on written request during the policy period subject to conditions. Policy owners with Advanced investment strategy are responsible for determining the allocation and switching throughout the lifetime of the policy.

▪ What are Unit switches and amendment of Regular Premium Allocation Proportions?

Depending on the policy you have purchased, your Investment Linked Long Term Insurance Policy allows you to be in control of your investments. Options such as Unit switches* and amendment of Regular Premium Allocation Proportions* may be available to you, so that you have total control over your long term investment.

- Unit switches: If you request to switch units from one unit linked fund to another, the Company will cancel units of equal amount from the fund from which the units are to be switched from at the Unit price of that fund prevailing on the day and after deduction of switching charge, if any, and the funds so generated will be used to create units in the fund in which the amount is to be switched to at the Unit price of that fund prevailing on the day. Note that the unit switches are not permitted into or out of the Protected Fund and Stable Money Market Fund.
 - Amendment of Regular Premium Allocation Proportions: At the written request of the Policy Owner, the Company will amend the Allocation Proportion whereafter the previous Allocation Proportion will become ineffective, and the amended Allocation Proportion will be applicable to all future Basic Premiums received from the date of the Company's acceptance of the request. Note that the amendment of allocation proportions is not permitted into or out of the Stable Money Market Fund.
- ## ▪ How often can Unit switches and Amendment of Allocation Proportions be executed?
- There is no limitation on frequency of Unit switches*
 - The Company will only allow two (2) requests for Amendment of the Allocation Proportion within any Policy Year*
 - The relevant applicable charges will be applied as stipulated in the Policy Document
- ## ▪ How can we get information on AIA Unit Linked Funds performance?
