Fixed income outlook

- In the monetary policy meeting convened on 26th of November 2024, the Monetary Policy Board of the Central Bank of Sri Lanka resolved to further moderate the monetary policy stance. The Board established the newly introduced Overnight Policy Rate (OPR) at 8.00 percent, representing an approximate 50 basis point reduction from the current Average Weighted Call Money Rate (AWCMR), which remains the operational target within the Flexible Inflation Targeting (FIT) framework.
- Treasury bill rates experienced a decrease across all tenures, with an average reduction of approximately 10 basis points. The benchmark yield for the 364-day T-bill dropped from 9.95% to 9.08% in November 2024, reflecting a trend towards lower rates. Similarly, the weighted average yields for the shorter tenures also declined, with the 91-day T-bill rate falling to 8.73% and the 182-day T-bill rate moving down to 8.97%. These decreases highlight a general easing in yields across the board, likely in response to favorable market conditions and policy rate cuts.
- Foreign holdings of LKR-denominated Government securities strengthened in November by 10%, registering an inflow of LKR 5.4 billion. This increased foreign participation to 0.33% of total outstanding government securities, up from 0.30% in October. However, looking at the broader picture for 2024 year-to-date, foreign investors maintained a net selling position of LKR 59 billion.
- The Average Weighted Prime Lending Rate (AWPR) decreased by 9 basis points to 9.08% by the end of November from 9.17% from the preceding month. The Average Weighted Fixed Deposit Rate remained at 9.46% during the month.
- In November 2024, deflation intensified, reaching -2.1% year-on-year compared to -0.8% in October. This deepening was primarily attributed to falling energy prices and a negative base effect. The inflation landscape showed nuanced shifts across sectors: food inflation eased from 1.0% in October to 0.6% in November, while non-food inflation experienced a more significant adjustment, moving from a 1.6% decline to 3.3% over the same period.

Equity outlook

- The Sri Lankan equity Market demonstrated robust performance, with the All Share Price Index (ASPI) delivering a 3.28% gain, surpassing the 13,000 level for the first time in over two and a half years. While the broader market showed strength, the S&P SL20 Index experienced a more modest increase of 1.06%. The Food, Beverage & Tobacco, was the primary driver of the upward in the month of November complemented by notable performances from the Consumer Services and Banking sector respectively. During the same period, the counters that contributed the most towards this upward movement were Sampath Bank, Melstacorp and Commercial Bank respectively.
- Trading dynamics were particularly noteworthy, with average daily turnover surging by an impressive 32% from the preceding month, reaching LKR 3.65 billion. This significant uptick in trading volume indicates heightened investor confidence and increased market liquidity during the month. However, the month experienced a significant net foreign outflow of LKR 3.1 billion, which amplified the year-to-date foreign capital withdrawal by 49%.
