Major events during the month

- Throughout March, 364-day T-bill rates remained stable at 8.23% before edging higher to 8.32% by month end. The month's movements indicated consolidation in short-term market conditions, with yields reflecting balanced liquidity conditions and measured investor demand amid heightened global uncertainty towards late March.
- Sri Lanka's external sector remained stable in March, with tourism inflows moderating during the month amid heightened geopolitical tensions in the Middle East, contributing to a more cautious external environment.

- The ASPI and S&P SL 20 decreased by 6.89% and 4.11% respectively, for the month of March 2026.
- Net foreign outflows for the month amounted to LKR 9.75 Bn, an increased outflow from the prior period.
- The market witnessed a decrease in turnover for the period compared to the prior period.

 Investment strategy: AIA Sri Lanka maintains a prudent investment strategy for its investment portfolios, in line with its investment philosophy and guidelines as set out in the investment policy. The Company advocates a long-term investment strategy supporting long-term growth. The equity strategy is driven by in-depth research with emphasis on growth and sustainability of earnings whilst principles such as liquidity, solvency and corporate governance also play a significant role in stock selection.

Fixed income outlook

- During the month of March, the Central Bank decided to hold the overnight policy rate (OPR) at its current level of 7.75% after its monetary policy review. As a result, the Standing Lending Facility Rate (the rate at which the CBSL lends to commercial bank) stayed at 8.25%, while the Standing Deposit Facility Rate (the rate at which commercial banks place excess funds with CBSL) stood at 7.25%.
- The Central Bank highlighted the escalation of geopolitical tensions to have a spillover effect on inflation due to escalation of energy prices. These price escalations can be accommodated and expected to reach the Central Bank's target of 5% and remain at those levels in the second quarter, which is earlier than previously anticipated. As the economy recorded a strong real growth of 5% in 2025 despite the cyclone disruptions, potential disruptions from the conflict could hamper domestic economic activity.
- Sri Lanka's external sector remained robust in early 2026, with reserves reaching USD 7.3 billion. Although, Middle East conflict risks energy, tourism, trade, and remittances, causing rupee depreciation pressures similar to the regional peers.
- During the month, the treasury bill yields witnessed an upward movement in all three tenors, with 364-day T-bill rising the most with a 9-basis point movement to 8.32%. In the meantime, the shorter end tenor T-Bills rose further as the 91-day T-bill rose by 1 basis point and the 183-day T-bill increased the most by 3 basis points during the month of March.
- The foreign holding of LKR-denominated government securities witnessed a sale of 12% of its holding during the month of March. The total sale of securities by foreigners during the year amounted to LKR 19.62 billion which decreased the foreign holdings to 0.77% of the total holdings from 0.87% of the total from the preceding month. On a year-to-date basis the holdings increased by LKR 2.25 billion as at March.
- The Average Weighted Prime Lending Rate (AWPR) edged down by 7 basis points, bringing the AWPR to 9.28% by the end of March.
- The Colombo Consumer Price Index (CCPI) registered a year-on-year inflation rate of 2.20% for March 2026, reflecting a modest increase from the 1.60% recorded in February 2026. This uptick is primarily driven by rising costs in housing rent, electricity, and transport, as evidenced by the increase in non-food Inflation, which climbed to 2.9% in March 2026 from 2.3% in February 2026. Food Inflation also edged upward, rising to 0.7% in March 2026 compared to 0.2% in the preceding month.

Equity outlook

- In March 2026, the Colombo Stock Exchange registered a pronounced correction, with the All-Share Price Index (ASPI) contracting by 11.24% and the S&P Sri Lanka 20 Index declining by 11.03%. Sectoral analysis indicates that the capital goods sector exerted the most significant downward pressure on benchmark indices, followed by the diversified financials sector. At the counter level, John Keells Holdings emerged as the primary contributor to index depreciation, with Dialog Axiata PLC and Commercial Bank of Ceylon PLC also registering notable declines.
- Market liquidity moderated concurrently, as average daily turnover receded to approximately LKR 4.7 billion, reflecting a risk-off posture among domestic and institutional participants. This cautious sentiment was primarily attributable to elevated global macroeconomic uncertainty, notably escalating geopolitical tensions surrounding the Iran conflict, which dampened investor confidence and suppressed trading volumes across key segments. Foreign participants activity remained firmly on the sell side, with net disposals totaling LKR 9.75 billion during the month. This brought the cumulative year-to-date net foreign outflow to LKR 25.90 billion, underscoring sustained caution among international investors toward Sri Lankan equities amid prevailing external headwinds.
- The market's Price-to-Earnings (P/E) decreased to 10.64x in March from 11.66x in the preceding month.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Where are AIA Unit Linked Funds invested?

The Unit Linked funds are invested in instruments specified in the policy documents i.e. government securities, debt securities and money market investments such as fixed deposits, etc, and in shares listed on the Colombo Stock Exchange. These investments are made within the parameters provided in the policy documents, in order to achieve the investment objective of each fund.

- Equities: Investment in shares listed on the Colombo Stock Exchange.
- Debt Securities: Investments in Treasury instruments, Corporate Debt instruments, repurchase agreements of Treasury instruments and Corporate Debt instruments of longer maturity tenor than those classified as Money Market investments.
- Money Market investments: Funds held as Corporate Debt instruments, overnight repurchase agreements of Treasury instruments, Corporate Debt instruments with a tenor of one day, investments in Treasury instruments and cash in bank current accounts.

Treasury instruments refers to instruments such as Treasury Bills and Treasury Bonds issued by the government of Sri Lanka. Corporate debt refers to debt instruments issued by financial institutions and companies.

How does AIA manage Unit Linked funds?

AIA maintains a prudent investment strategy for its investment portfolios, in line with its investment philosophy and guidelines, as set out in the Company's investment policy. The investments of each fund are carried out in line with the investment objectives of the respective fund. The Company advocates a long-term investment strategy supporting long-term growth. The equity strategy is driven by in-depth research with emphasis on growth and sustainability of earnings whilst principles such as liquidity, solvency and corporate governance also play a significant role in stock selection.

Why do unit prices of the Growth & Balanced Funds fluctuate in comparison to the other Unit Linked Funds?

The prices of all unit linked funds move in tandem with the price movements or market values of their underlying investments. The Growth & Balanced funds invest in shares listed on the Colombo Stock Exchange. As prices of shares can be volatile at times, the unit prices of Growth & Balanced funds too can move higher or lower in tandem with these movements in share prices.

Is the All Share Price Index (ASPI) or S&P20 movement comparable with AIA Growth & Balanced Funds Performance?

The Growth and Balance fund performance may differ from the performances of the ASPI and the S&P SL 20 stock indices due to the fund portfolios holding different stocks and different proportions of stocks when compared to those used in the computation of the indices. The ASPI measures the movement of share prices of all listed companies on the Colombo Stock Exchange based on market capitalization and the S&P SL 20 measures the movement of share prices of 20 of the leading companies selected and rebased on certain criteria including market capitalisation.

▪ What are the Investment Strategies mentioned in the Policy Document* ?

Depending on the policy you have purchased, at the date of commencement the policy owner selects the investment strategy out of the four available; namely Aggressive, Moderate, Cautious and Advanced. Aggressive, Moderate and Cautious strategies have their funds allocated and switched at predetermined milestones depending on the policy term. Policy owners can switch fund strategies on written request during the policy period subject to conditions. Policy owners with Advanced investment strategy are responsible for determining the allocation and switching throughout the lifetime of the policy.

▪ What are Unit switches and amendment of Regular Premium Allocation Proportions?

Depending on the policy you have purchased, your Investment Linked Long Term Insurance Policy allows you to be in control of your investments. Options such as Unit switches* and amendment of Regular Premium Allocation Proportions* may be available to you, so that you have total control over your long term investment.

- Unit switches: If you request to switch units from one unit linked fund to another, the Company will cancel units of equal amount from the fund from which the units are to be switched from at the Unit price of that fund prevailing on the day and after deduction of switching charge, if any, and the funds so generated will be used to create units in the fund in which the amount is to be switched to at the Unit price of that fund prevailing on the day. Note that the unit switches are not permitted into or out of the Protected Fund and Stable Money Market Fund.
- Amendment of Regular Premium Allocation Proportions: At the written request of the Policy Owner, the Company will amend the Allocation Proportion whereafter the previous Allocation Proportion will become ineffective, and the amended Allocation Proportion will be applicable to all future Basic Premiums received from the date of the Company's acceptance of the request. Note that the amendment of allocation proportions is not permitted into or out of the Stable Money Market Fund.

▪ How often can Unit switches and Amendment of Allocation Proportions be executed?

- There is no limitation on frequency of Unit switches*
- The Company will only allow two (2) requests for Amendment of the Allocation Proportion within any Policy Year*
- The relevant applicable charges will be applied as stipulated in the Policy Document
